The Supreme Court says we are going to have a primary on August 11. The big job now will be to get the voters out to the polls.

Along with sound wagons in Palm Beach county politics comes a new radio station. Just wait until another campaign arrives.

Black bass fishermen on the shores of Lake Okeechobee may disagree with the report that the greatest game fish in clear waters is the muskellunge.

An old-timer is the fellow who has been a member of the federal government for its' extravagance in giving away free seeds to farmers.

Fort Myers to Stuart—via Lake Okeechobee. A cross-state water-tax to be completed early next year. Wonder if Ocala will be included.

A candidate was eliminated from the senatorial contest because he failed to comply with the law and file an expense account. His plans now are to "mandamus" him.

We read a story the other day that said it had been in Ethelreda's will that his wife, together with butter, she has the right to divorce him. Lesser things in America are good grounds for divorce.

Since, tons of sugar are produced, Lake region each year is rating to note that the per cent sugar consumption in the U.S. is still greater than what 100 years ago.

The morning Palm Beach county radio station WINDO—goes on the air. Talent from the county will furnish much of the first day's program. We join with other friends of the enterprise in wishing the program success in the years that are to come...

The story says that the potato crop in the state will be short account of the dryness. Maybe that's an opportunity for some Lake region growers to cash in on a crop that became recognized as an edible vegetable almost 400 years ago.

During the months between now and the November election we will all probably hear a lot about demagogues. A learned gentleman gave the following explanation of a demagogue: "A demagogue is a man who can rock the boat and then persuade everybody to believe that there's a terrible storm at sea."

Growers in this section are anxious to get busy. Already weeds have been run down on hundreds of acres. Plows are busy on two or three large tracts of land. After a week or so, a matter of a few weeks until plowing will be busy and the hum of the tractor will be a familiar sound.

The Board of Commissioners of the Okeechobee Flood Control district began this week paving the way for a celebration—early next year, on the completion of the cross-state waterway system of Lake Okeechobee. We are interested in the celebration and hereby extend a cordial invitation to those in charge to stage the celebration on the banks of the St. Lucie canal near Port Mayaca.

Roads are being repaired on the west end of Lake Okeechobee. The Post Office Department is sending a stamp rush to communicate and crossings are being made in this section. Streets in Lake Wales are being repaired. All of us in the future and full knowledge that within the next few months another busy season will be upon us.

Boy Scouts of Palmetto are to have a new Scoutmaster. The troop is sponsored by the Rotary Club and the new Scoutmaster will receive a commendation for the amount of time, energy and money spent in half of the boys who belong to the troop.

At Evaluation
Judge: Jim, I can give you the new Scoutmaster. He will be good, but it will cost you that much.

Judge: Thirty dollars, Judge?

Judge: Yes, that's the court fee for expenses.

Judge: Well, Judge, I don't believe I want no divorce. There aren't thirty dollars difference between me and two wimmen.

STATE CHAMBER PLANS DRIVE TO PUSH INDUSTRY

Next Annual Convention in West Palm Beach On December 1 and 2

Directors of the state chamber of commerce meeting in Tampa Wednesday, prepared to ask the next legislature for an appropriation for an industrial laboratory at the state's manufacturing resources and facilities could be studied scientifically.

Harold Cole of Jacksonville, president, said in his report the state already is spending $100,000 in a year in agricultural research but nothing is spent to benefit industry which brings in the state's largest revenue.

The directors approved a program looking to the establishment of a research program that would find new uses for Florida materials in industry and wider markets for manufactured products.

Establishment of a dairy laboratory at the university was recommended to the legislature after the eradication of the cattle tick Florida.

"We have a 100 per cent free of ticks," said Ralph G. Grassfield, secretary, "and dairying and cattle raising will gain great momentum in the next few years." One bill has been introduced to overcome, however, is a seasonal peak and stamp. Colefield will up their production to meet with a surplus of them, then, with a surplus of them, then, a laboratory might help to solve this problem by developing new dairy products and it would be a good idea for new leaders in the dairy industry to do so.

THE AMERICAN BUSINESS man is patient and long-suffering, but when aroused he is in an eminent position to become a world leader. American world leadership is the result of an individualism and opportunity for self-expression with proportionate rewards. We are honest, decent, hardy, guided by sound and economic changes that American business ideals and opportunities may not be lost. I feel that this organization should lend every possible assistance to the defense of business.

Directors attending the meeting included J. D. Ingraham, Jacksonville; Bayard S. Cook, St. Petersburg; W. C. Overton, Lakeland; L. C. Parks, Pensacola; Ed R. Bentley, Lakeland; Carl D. Brodin, Tampa; J. A. Griff, Tampa; John B. Sutton, Tampa; L. D. Reagan, Gainesville; W. C. DeLoach, Frost; Earl W. Brown, Deland; Fred M. Traynor, Tampa; H. L. Mossberger, Miami; and B. F. Williamson, Gainesville.

The next meeting of the directors will be held at Panama City in October.

The annual convention of the state chamber will be in the nature of a two-day business conference at West Palm Beach, Dec. 1 and 2.

SENIOR SENATOR MINUS QUANTITY AFTER ELECTION

Unusual Situation Will See Florida With Two New Senators

TALLAHASSEE, July 30—(PBN)—When Scott M. Loftin, a recent self-made United States senator from Florida, resigns his temporary appointment in January, Florida for the third time in his history will be without a senior senator.

Although two senators will be chosen by the people of Florida to fill vacancies, neither of them will be a "senior" senator. Immediately after his resignation, W. T. Cash, state librarian, term of service, who claims the authority, determines the senior senatorship.

It has been argued by some political analysts that the Senate of the state elected in November would automatically assume the senatorships held by the men whose terms ended in January. This would not be so, however, as the legislature, in its session upon election, since its candidacy is, for the post of the late Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, has been withdrawn.

The seniority would be determined by length of unexpired term of office held by each of the prospective senators whose death occurs this year.

It is believed that the legislature would assume the senior position.

The vacationist setting out with his family for a vacation, town of some of the nation's social spots will take along an uninvited and invisible guest who will cost him the price of a dinner every 200 miles. This invisible guest is the gasoline tax collector.

The average gasoline tax in the United States, including the duplicating federal levy of 1 cent per gallon, now exceeds 5 cents per gallon, and a motorist driving 200 miles will be exceeded.

that Boone had been disqualified because of failure to file expense account before deadline, he emphatically stated that such was not the case and that he was definitely in the race to its finish.

"If the two are elected at the same time," Mr. Cash explained, "neither will be senior senator, but one will be senior to the other than the other. When one is elected to the other, the other automatically assumes the title of senior senator by the appointment of the senate for his convenience.

"Varmints" Not So Bad As Their Name Implies

One man's vermin is often another's game, and his plowshare or even his livelihood.

The fox may be a "varmint" when it visits the chicken yard, but where fox is a rare animal usually is protected as a hunting trophy.

The racoon and opossum are near the top of the "kill 'em" list of many game breeders, but sportsmen's "commodum" hunting trophy is the tortoise.

"Of the 189 species of American mammals usually called "vermin," 116 are for bearers," says W. L. McAtee, of the United States Biological Survey.

"These fur bears are undoubtedly kill and eat game, but they also have considerable economic value.

Farmer and farm boys take most of the 60 to 70 million dollars annual for catch. Many persons earn their living in the fur industry."

McAtee figures that only a little more than 10 percent of the wildlife is taken by man. More than 90 percent of the birds, 87 percent of the wild animals, and 85 percent of the fresh-water fish fall in the "kill and eat" category.

One of the most interesting "kill and eat" animals, is called "vermin" by most hunters and fishermen.

"Many a crime," says Mr. McAtee, "has been committed against wildlife in the name of fur control.

provide more game for the sportsmen. In some areas dogs box tortoise, or sand tortoise, is killed because someone said they were quite large. The Biological Survey, however, hasn't been able to find the tortoise guilty.

"At times some kind of check may be necessary against some particular offender, but in general wildlife works out its own balance rather well. Predators in measure keep numbers of game in balance in excess of the carrying capacity of the environment. If game gets the right kind of cover and food it usually can take care of itself."
